

Supplying diversity

Diverse Flavours is at TFWA Asia Pacific Exhibition & Conference presenting the diversity of its portfolio of South African wines.

Among the ranges being showcased is Groot Constantia. Located on the side of Table Mountain, it is the oldest winery in South Africa, dating back to 1685.

There is also a range of wines from Avondale – one of the top organic and biodynamic wineries in South Africa – and the ever-popular Ernie Els range of wines, which Anthony Budd, Managing Director, Diverse Flavours, explained can be found across Asia duty free.

Diverse Flavours' premium wines have been poured in First Class on All Nippon Airways (ANA), and on Cathay Pacific in Business Class, among others.

Over 50 South African wines are available to taste at the Diverse Flavours stand, along with its Sake range Sakuramasamune. Sakuramasamune Traditional Junmai is exclusive to travel retail.

"The focus this year is to inform and educate people about South African wines, and different wines available from the top regions," Budd added.
